

SEMI-WEEKLY INTERIOR JOURNAL.

VOL. XXII.

STANFORD, KY., FRIDAY, MAY 18, 1894.

NO. 23

WILLIAMSBURG, WHITLEY COUNTY.

—Next week will be commencement week for both of our schools.

—Dogs killed several fine sheep for L. A. King last Friday night. The dogs escaped.

—The Williamsburg base ball team defeated the Jellies Friday. The score stood 28 to 8.

—Elder W. J. Masters preached at the Christian church here last Sunday and Elder Terry filled his pulpit at Woodbine.

—Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Hagnely are visiting in Madison. Mr. Hagnely will attend the State Pharmaceutical Association while gone.

—The ladies of the Christian church gave an ice cream supper at the courthouse Tuesday evening. There was a good crowd in attendance and about $15 realized.

—The Woody Bros. Concert Co. gave a fine entertainment at the Christian church Friday night to a crowded house, and after the concert, organized a class with about 50 members. It will close with a concert Friday evening, given by the class, assisted by the troupe.

—Hon. C. W. Lester was in Pine Knot Friday and Saturday. Mr. Steven Preston, of Virginia, is visiting his sister, Mrs. Dr. Finley. Messrs. T. B. and J. P. Mahan took their nine miles to Harrods county to visit them on pasture. Mr. Ross Nelson visited his brother, E. E. Nelson, last week.

—Circuit court is in session and while this a short term, we think Judge Morrow will clear the docket of all the cases that can be tried. El Johnson was sent to the penitentiary for three years for stealing a mule. The criminal docket is light and will be completed by Thursday night. Among the visiting attorneys are Messrs. Heiskell and Roberts, of Knoxville; Boyd, of London; Gaines, of Jellies; Tinsley, Faulkner and Hays, of Harboursville, and Alcorn, of Stanford.

—A patent medicine man by the name of White sold our population $200 worth of medicine in an hour last Monday. It was the biggest crowd of snickers we ever saw and about the easiest crowd taken in. White made them believe he would give their money back and let them keep the medicine, but he never did tell them so. Of course the idea that to get something for nothing took them in, and we suppose the experience they got was cheap at $1, if they will only part with it.

To the Democracy of Lincoln.

At a meeting of the democratic committee of the 8th Congressional district, held at Lawrenceburg, April 25, it was ordered that county conventions be held at the respective court-houses in each county of the district on Saturday, May 25, at 2 o'clock, to appoint delegates to the convention to be held at Nicholasville at 1 p. m., June 5th, to nominate a candidate for Congress. In accordance with this order, I hereby call a convention to be held at Stanford, May 25, at 2 o'clock p. m. for the purpose named and trust that there will be a full attendance.

R. R. GENTRY, Chmn.

Chicago is to have an eight-story, $200,000 church, with bath-rooms, gymnasiums and reading-rooms. Lloyd Jones, late pastor of All Souls' Unitarian church, is to be the pastor of his old congregation, which has followed him in his new departure, and the church, like a footless sock without a leg, is to have no creed nor doctrine. This would seem to be about the thing Chicago's soul long has sought and sighed because she found it not. We can not see that there is anything in it, but we rejoice nevertheless that the wicked Windy City has again got what she thinks she wants.—Times.

ASHLAND, Wis.—The famous retreat in northern Wisconsin located on the Wisconsin Central Lines at the head of the Chequamegon Bay is a most desirable spot for one to spend a summer outing, surrounded as it is by the beautiful Apostle Islands. Little need be said of its scenic beauty and health giving qualities. This place should not be overlooked by those figuring on a resort for their next summer's vacation. The tourist will find excellent fishing and boating at this point, and good hotel accommodations at very reasonable rates. For further particulars, maps, time tables, and guide books apply to Jas. C. Pond, Genl. Pass. Agt., Milwaukee, Wis.

Last year 102 well-defined cases of lockjaw were reported to the Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, London, with a certificate in each case from the attending veterinary that the malady resulted from docking, and one single veterinary stated that out of 31 cases of tetanus which he had been called to attend within a year, 27 resulted from the same custom.

One of the neatest rigs in Buffalo is a pneumatic-tired road wagon owned by William Hamlin. The front wheels are 23 inches and the rear wheels 30 inches in diameter and the axles are ball-bearing. It runs easily, and, as there is no jar, horsemen predict that this style of road rig will become popular.

A recent medical authority asserts that fully 80 per cent. of cases of appendicitis recover, if left to nature.

LONDON, LAUREL COUNTY.

—Circuit court commences here next Monday.

—E. K. Wilson left Thursday night for Danville to visit friends and relatives.

—The London base ball club played the Pittsburghs at that place Friday. Result, Pittsburghs 11; London 28; as usual.

—Charles R. Baugh will have his handsome residence completed by Monday. He will occupy it soon after and not by himself.

—Rev. W. A. Barnum, of Middleboro, has been holding a protracted meeting at the Baptist church this week and has had a good attendance.

—Eli Sparks, son of the widow James Sparks, died at his mother's home on the Harboursville road Tuesday. He was a good, kind young man, well liked by all.

—The Southern Methodist church is the handsomest one in town, especially on the inside, and Bro. Strawn says he will have a wedding in it in less than 60 days. Guess who?

—Uncle Johnny McFadden, an aged citizen, died at the home of his son-in-law, George Wilburn, last Sunday, while on a visit here. He was the father of ex-Sheriff Jesse McFadden, Squire P. L. McFadden and Jarve and Jake, all noted characters.

—Charley Kellogg, of the Rebo force, is back from a visit to his Ohio home. Miss Nellie Reid left last week for Florida, where she will make her future home with her brother, George. Prof. A. Chiesman is in Mt. Vernon this week teaching the brass band how to blow. Col. Joe F. Hocker, of Junction City, is here on particular business. Dr. E. T. Ramsey is in Bonoville this week attending circuit court.

—The franchise for building a street railway has been granted to R. M. Jackson and Henry Thompson. There have been five meetings of the board of trustees to complete the arrangements. All we lack now is electric lights and an ice plant. Water works could be easily established by placing a hydraulic ram at The Falls, which would do its own pumping to Cemetery Hill, and it could in that way supply the town without an expense, except laying the pipe and one man's work to attend to it.

—I spent all of last week on Cumberland river fishing. There were five of us and we camped out. The fishing was only ordinary, although we had plenty to eat and brought a lot back home for our families. The pleasure of a trip of this kind is after it is over with, when you can talk to the eager listeners about the fish you caught, the picturesque scenery, the nights on the river under a tent, with a brilliant fire in front, the accidental duckings, and the many amusing incidents that happen, and especially how delicious the mountain spring water after the liquor gives out.

—The democratic county committee met here Monday to select a time to hold a democratic convention, or rather to see what to do about candidates. J. W. Bastin, chairman, was present and called the meeting to order. No action was taken, but Bro. Bastin confessed when asked that he was pledged to two of the republican candidates and "couldn't vote for John Pearl for anything," he said, when my name was mentioned in connection with a county office. "Consistency, then, art a jewel," Bro. Bastin, why don't you come off the roost and let a democrat have the position of chairman of the democratic committee of the republican county of Laurel, where we occasionally elect a democrat?

LANCASTER, CARRARD COUNTY.

—Elder Greer will preach at the Christian church Sunday night.

—Rev. J. E. Tercey will return from Florida next week. Mr. W. C. Price, of Danville, was in town Wednesday.

—The Ladies' Aid Society will give a supper at the court-house Friday night. A good, square meal will be furnished for 25c.

—Mr. E. W. Harris has purchased of the Misses Noel their residence on York street. He will move his family back from Louisville soon.

—It has been suggested, and is meeting with much encouragement, that when the water works are built, a large fountain be placed in the centre of the square and dedicated to the late Joseph C. Frank.

—The 30th will be "a big day in town." In the forenoon there will be a game of base ball between Nicholasville and Lancaster and several bicycle races. A number of handsome medals have been ordered for the latter. In the afternoon the K. of P. decoration ceremonies will take place and at night the lodge will give a big banquet to the visiting brethren. All the business houses have agreed to close up in the afternoon and a large crowd is expected in town.

Middleboro, Casey County.

—Rev. M. A. Middleton preached at Grove Sunday.

—There was a social gathering at Jamie Wash Institute, Friday night.

—Farmers are complaining of much damage to their crops by cut worms.

—Nelson Wilcher is putting up a saw mill on Long branch, 2 1/2 miles North of town.

—J. C. Conter has completed peeling and shipping about 300 cords of tanbark from Yosemite.

—The present session of Jamie Wash Institute will close Thursday; but Prof. J. N. Huff, the principal, will continue two weeks longer for the benefit of some dozen or more teachers, who desire to better prepare for the June examination.

—We are always glad to have citizens of neighboring counties visit us, but when they come into our midst for sport, and amuse themselves by punning flowers from yards uninvited, and raid onion patches, and do many other things characteristic of the first inhabitants of this country, they are unwelcome visitors. We are informed that the parties referred to were pupils of a very noted and worthy institution of learning, which makes their conduct all the more remarkable. There were among them some who deported themselves in a most gentlemanly manner cannot be denied, and we mean no reflections upon them but invite them to come often. Now the object of this article is for the good of those, for whom it is intended, and if they will come again and remain with us a short time we will take pleasure in convincing them that we are a civilized people, and that morality, education and religion reigns supremely among us, regardless of the geographical position we occupy.

MIDDLEBORO.

—Mr. W. A. Barnum, of Mt. Vernon, is in Lancaster this week.

—Most of the wood of this place has been shipped. Many thousands of cords were taken away.

—Prof. M. G. Thompson took his school fishing last Saturday. The weather being fine the party enjoyed themselves to the fullest extent.

—There are only three more weeks of school and then C. C. will begin another school term of six weeks for teachers, at very reasonable terms.

—Mr. Coleman Carpenter is the only lucky man in the country. The doctor gave him a prescription that he should not work only when he wants to work.

—The entertainment to be given at the college next Friday evening will be very fine, consisting of music. It will be under the care of Miss Bennett, the music teacher.

—The society at Beechgrove met last Friday night and rendered a good program. They have got the musicians of town to join them, and music will be given each night with singing.

—The boys of Beechgrove Society were asked by the Moreland boys to come out and organize a society in that town. They will speak at the Presbyterian church next Saturday night.

—Mr. J. J. McKinney is worse at this writing. His eyes are the seat of his trouble. Mrs. John Kiffe was in town Tuesday. Messrs. John Russell and Tom Gooch went fishing on Green River last week. McGarvey Woods went home Friday that he might attend the ball given at Liberty.

KINGSVILLE, TERMS.

—The Misses Agnes and Gertrude Pennybacker, two of our most charming young ladies, are visiting at Junction City, where a delightful hop was given for them Tuesday evening. Mrs. R. C. Roberts, of Winton Place, Cincinnati, is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hunter. Mrs. Martin and Miss Maude McCarty, of Jellico, Tennessee, are guests of W. L. McCarty and family. The friends of Miss Daisy Carey will be pleased to know she is convalescent. Joe McCarty left Saturday for an extended sojourn in Lexington.

—The State Board of Health will hold a meeting for the examination of non-graduate applicants for certificates to practice medicine, at the University of Louisville, beginning at 9 a. m., Thursday, June 14, 1894. Only persons presenting satisfactory evidence that they were reputably and honorably engaged in the practice of medicine in this State as an occupation prior to February 23, 1894, and that they are persons of good moral and professional character, will be eligible for examination.

Baron Hirsch gave a dinner at the Savoy Hotel, London, two weeks ago to 60 men, each of whom was said to be a millionaire. The fact that the meal cost but $100 for each guest seems to have caused some disappointment to the public.

A new material for paving is being introduced in London. It is composed of granulated cork and bitumen pressed into blocks, which are laid like bricks or wood paving. The special advantage of the material lies in its elasticity.

The old Benedict Arnold home at New Haven, Conn., has been sold for the use of a lumber firm.

MT. VERNON, ROCKCASTLE COUNTY.

—Little Clarah, daughter of Mr. T. S. Todd, died at Livingston, Wednesday night.

—Moles are playing havoc with gardens in this vicinity. The cut-worm is getting in some work also.

—Never in its history before has Mr. Vernon shown as much activity in all lines of business as at present.

—The Pittsburg, Ky., ball team will play here Saturday. The home club now have new grounds and practicing daily.

—Brickmaking in the new yard on Crab Orchard street, was begun yesterday, by Mr. Fred Krueger, that enterprising German.

—Some express the fear that since the Courier-Journal comes out against Breckinridge that his election is now sure, as everything seems to go contrary to that paper's expressed views.

—Tilman Gilpin, a foreman, was he'd up near Pine Hill water tank a few nights since by two men. Gilpin was too quick for them, however, and put them to flight with his revolver.

—Miss Nannie Myers, aged 14, daughter of Mr. James Myers, died Wednesday morning from the effects of injuries received when a horse fell with her while out riding some 10 months since.

—Supt. Hinton, of the Institution for the Blind, Louisville, has presented to Miss Lena McClure, a former pupil of this place, a Bible printed in "points." There are several volumes of the work and their weight is nearly 200 pounds.

—By addressing P. O. Box No. 1 at this place you will be put on to a good thing in the way of a late invention—an electric light signal; neat, novel and valuable. A partner wanted to procure patent thereon.

—The night telegraph office at this place is closed on account of slack business on the road. It will be restored when business picks up. The most discommoding feature is the loss of our night mails. An effort is being made to have the mails restored.

—Rev. T. S. Nelson, of Mt. Vernon, died Wednesday evening of Bright's disease. He has the reputation of being a fine speaker and had considerable experience in the evangelistic field in Virginia, Tennessee and this State. He had been a citizen of this place for probably 20 years and was respected by all. The colored people lose a valued friend and adviser in his death.

—Some 50 of our citizens went to Wildie last Sunday to be present at the dedication of the new church. Many were kept away on account of the early morning rain. An immense crowd was present, not more than a third could get into the house. Dinner was served on the grounds to all who cared to partake. All speak well of the kind attention from the Wildie people.

—Mr. James Croucher has returned from Lexington. Messrs. M. J. and Hugh Miller and C. C. Williams are in Louisville. We will shortly have a woman preacher with us, though it is probable she will reach Stanford first. It is Mrs. Mary Phoebe Smith, of Catawba, Ky. She was at New Haven a few days since making in this direction. Mr. Ed Engleman and wife, of Harboursville, were visiting relatives here this week. Mrs. Nora Ogg was over from Lancaster to see her husband, who is making pictures here. Mrs. Carrie Graves was up from Livingston visiting Nannie Myers during her illness.

—On January 15, 1875, 19 years since, John Forbes, of Glasgow, Scotland; Charles and Rescoe Burrill, of Piscataquis, Maine; and John T. and George W. Maret, formerly of Harrods county, left Columbus, Texas, for California horseback, there being no railroads through at that time. Two months afterwards the party was heard from at Silver City, N. M. Since that date not a word has been received from any of them by their people. Advertising in the Western papers brought many replies, but when traced proved unsatisfactory. It is believed that the crowd were murdered at some point beyond Silver City, as no trace could be found of them beyond that point. They had $3,000 with them when they started from Texas.

—If there are more women than men in the world, as is shown by a writer in the American Journal of Medical Sciences, it would seem that nature had provided for polygamous relations between the sexes, or that old maids are natural products. Old bachelors have no such excuse for existing.

—A negro crank arose in the gallery of the House at Washington and shouted: "Mr. Speaker, a message from Christ. If the Coxy bills are not passed before the 24th of this month the Lord will destroy the White House, the Capitol and the Treasury with thunder and lightning." He had hardly finished before a policeman appeared on the scene and hustled him to the lock up. Several of the members were badly frightened by the abrupt address.

Landlady—"Have you tried the coffee this morning, Mr. Linton?" Mr. Linton—"Yes, I have, and it has proved an alibi."—Brooklyn Life.

DEMOCRATIC NOMINEES.

For County Judge.....JAS. WALKER GIVENS
 " Clerk.....G. B. COOPER
 " Attorney.....J. B. PANTON
 " Sheriff.....T. D. NEWLAND
 " Assessor.....E. D. KENNEDY
 " Jailor.....G. W. DEBOR

The women's meeting held in the Lexington Opera House to protest against the nomination of Col. Breckinridge was an immense affair. The auditorium was packed and it is said as many more as were present were turned away. Many leading men and preachers were present and numerous speeches were made, including one by Judge Durham, which denounce Breckinridge's acts and his audacity. The resolutions adopted protest against the nomination of the colonel which say that it would be a practical endorsement, or at least a condonation of his crime, a shame upon manhood and an insult upon womanhood. Fathers, husbands and brothers are implored to wipe out the stain Breckinridge has brought on the fair fame of the Ashland district. The ladies in all the counties of the 7th are asked to hold similar meetings and Senator Blackburn is requested to obtain a leave of absence and stump the district against the nomination of Breckinridge for Congress. The colonel ought to withdraw from the race and by showing forth works meet for repentance he may again be honored by the people he had dishonored. If he succeed in getting the nomination, he will be defeated at the polls and ought to be.

Is a meeting like that held by the women in Lexington for the purpose it was, it would seem that they ought to have been prepared for any kind of a remark, but the Courier-Journal says that Judge Durham shocked their modesty by using a word not current in polite conversation. From the Transcript and other authorities we learn that the C.-J.'s report does that gentleman a gross injustice. The Transcript says it was a splendid speech, which was loudly applauded by the men and women, who showed no sign of a shock, but appeared to be pleased. The judge believes in calling a spade a spade, and did so. The word he used can be found frequently in the Bible, twice in Revelations in 21st and 22d chapters, and is quite expressive.

Do the ladies of Lexington imagine that because Joseph C. S. Blackburn has the same name of the man who failed to yield to the blandishments of Mrs. Potipher, because his blood was so cold it only made a circuit of his body once in 12 months, that he is that kind of a saw horse? If they do, they are mistaken. We are not all as bad as Phil Thompson makes us, but there have been no Josephs since the days of the man who wore the coat of many colors. The call for him to come and stump the district against Willie Breckinridge is one of the calls that our big hearted, big mouthed and big voiced Joseph would answer.

If all the freaks spoken of for Congress get there the next body will be a better show than a dime museum. Gen. Coxey, who started out for something of the sort, has been nominated for Congress by the populists in McKinley's old district in Ohio, while Mary Lease is "yelling" for such a nomination in wild and woolly Kansas. Private Dalzell, George Francis Train et al. omne genus can now take courage and hope for the good time a'coming.

The Missouri democrats in convention at Kansas City adopted, after much wrangling, a straight out free coinage plank in its platform, by a vote of 423 to 110. It was a victory for Bland, the mention of whose name for president, received loud applause. No reference was made to the administration at Washington, the adoption of the resolution showing of itself that President Cleveland's action in vetoing the Bland seigniorage bill is condemned.

COL. BRECKINRIDGE says that "Nothing but death will ever put an end to my candidacy. I am in the race to stay and will never withdraw." An inglorious defeat, if perchance he receive the nomination, will put an end to his political career. He may stay on the track and disrupt the democratic party that has so often honored him, but it will be a repetition of Samson's act. His own political death is a foregone conclusion.

The Fulton, Ill., patriots are going to celebrate the 14th of July, and recognizing that our Willie is a drawing card they have offered him $500 to address them on that day. They expect to get their money back by charging an admission fee to see the greatest of all attractions.

The Missouri democrats ignored Cleveland and hised Hill. Bland, the man with but one idea and a poor one at that, seems to be the size of the average Missourian's ambition for president.

The Hartford Herald is authority for the statement that Gov. Buckner will not be a candidate for the U. S. Senate. He is now 71 years old and realizes that the time has come when he cannot engage in active politics. Besides, Mrs. Buckner is opposed to his entering the contest and he prefers to enjoy the remainder of his days in the peace and quiet of his country home. Of a truth Gov. Buckner can afford to rest on his laurels. He has been honored in many ways by a constituency, which has always delighted to do so, and he can permanently retire to his Glen Lily home assured of the love and respect not only of Kentuckians but the people of the whole country.

The Louisville Board of Safety is considering the advisability of licensing houses of ill fame and of devoting the proceeds to a home for the reclamation of fallen women. The Times says that by that same token it would be a good thing to license gambling for the benefit of sorrowful and busted sports. Let us have but one standard of mercy and morality for both sexes.

J. M. Richardson has sold his half interest in the Glasgow Times to Day Dickinson, the lightning linotype operator, and will likely go on a Louisville paper, where his genius can have a broader field. He can turn a humorous paragraph with the best of them and when occasion requires, can put as much vitrol in one as the next man.

DAN O'SULLIVAN, the cornucopiating genius of the Louisville Critic, is a lucky fellow. He put up a small amount on Elise the other day and drew out $350. He immediately invested it in hair restorer, and by the meeting of the press association, hopes to have considerable capillary substance on the summit of his cranium.

The Hopkinsville Kentuckian thinks that Madeline Pollard's book, "Marriage Above Zero," is misnamed unless it is pure fiction. Her experience in trying to enter matrimony was nearer the boiling point than zero.

NEWSY NOTES.

—The Naval Appropriation bill was passed by the House, and the Agricultural Appropriation bill was taken up. The Legislative, Executive and Judicial bill is ready to report, and makes a saving of $798,129 as compared with the appropriation for the current year.

—Dr. John A. Andrews, of Worcester, Mass., has been in practice over 60 years, during 48 of which he answered calls day and night, and now, at the age of 91 he still has a large office practice and includes among his patients some of the third generation he has treated.

—J. S. Coxey, the erratic leader of the fantastic "Commonwealth army," has achieved the point that was believed to be the real object of his notoriety-seeking. This is the Populist nomination for Congress, which was given him by a convention in the 18th Ohio district. The 18th is part of the old McKinley district. It is now represented by a democrat, George P. Ikert.

—Great damage has been done in Northwestern Wisconsin by floods resulting from the excessive rains. In the Chippewa valley alone the damage is estimated at $2,000,000. Many dams have been swept away, carrying with them millions of logs, which, with the water, have wrecked many buildings in cities along the Chippewa river, especially at Chippewa Falls.

FARM AND TRADE ITEMS.

—Yearling short horn bull for sale. J. S. Oasley, Sr., Stanford.

—Alex Martin bought of W. A. Her-ring a lot of fat heifers at 2½c.

—A two-year-old unbroken colt by On Time sold for $350 in Missouri.

—J. B. Foster bought of James Sher-ton a saddle gelding for $115.

—This year for the first time will the Palo Alto Farm be represented on the track by a pacer.

—Saunders & Co., bought of Graves, Clark & Smith 160 head of fat hogs at 4.67½ cents.—Lebanon Falcon.

—Horace Argo, a 30 to 1 horse won the first race at Louisville, Wednesday, but only a few held checks on him.

—A skim through a portion of the tobacco region of the State showed many fields set out. Plants are said to be plentiful.

—The entries to Harrodsburg trials close May 1st. Five dollars nominates. Write to T. M. Cardwell, secretary, for entry blanks.

—Messrs. T. J. Foster and E. P. Woods are dealers in futures. They have bought of Dr. J. B. Owsley 150 hogs for August delivery at 4½c.

—L. & G. Straus, of Lexington, have sold to Milt Young the colt Ashland, who ran second in the LaBelle stake. The reported price is $5,000.

—Lightning struck J. L. Boswell's stable in Daviess county, destroying it and three stallions, among them Gen. Lane for which $6,000 had been refused.

—R. C. Warren, master commissioner, sold the J. H. Parsons farm on the Procherville pike to Mrs. Perry White at $10 and 8½ acres knob land for $30.

—Boston is well supplied with pacers, as Paul, 2:09½; Bunch Louise, 2:10; Ginnette, 2:10; Chesterfield, 2:11½; Gil Carry, 2:12½; Banco Jr., 2:12½; Whisper, 2:14, and Jewett, 2:14, are now owned there.

—When a good park saddle gelding brings at one sale $1,300, and at another sale two other geldings bringing a $1,000 apiece, as was recently the case, it must be admitted that there is plenty of competition for the ownership of such horses.

—Thomas Metcalf, of Jessamine, sold a car load of hogs of his own raising in Cincinnati Wednesday at 5½c and a car load of butcher cattle at 3½c. S. T. Harris had a car load of hogs over there the same day, but declined to take the falling price.

—Capt. English sold at Harrodsburg 21 medium two-year-old steers at 3.24. Eubry & Fox have bought in this and adjoining counties during the past 10 days, 400 barrels of corn at from $2.35 to $2.50. B. B. Fox sold to Tennessee parties his eight-year-old trotting stallion Brown Jim, by Voltaire, 2:20½, for $600.—Advocate.

—Scogan Brothers have sold to G. W. Lerby & Co., of Chicago, the pair of winning two-year-olds, Leona's Last, by Buchanan, dam Leona, dam of Swifter, and Miss Alice, black filly, by Vanguard, dam imported Work Bez. The price paid for Leona's Last was $2,500 and $2,000 for Miss Alice.

—Chant, the favorite, won the Kentucky Derby at Louisville Tuesday in the slow time of 2:41. Pearl Song, came in second, six lengths behind, while Signal was third, Al Boyer, fourth and Tom Elmore fifth. The crowd that saw the race is estimated at 10,000. Chant and Pearl Song are both by Falsotto.

—The announcement that Directum, the great California trotter, had fallen at exercise and so hurt his forelegs that he might not trot this year was erroneous. It seems that the horse was turned loose from his stall at Pleasanton, Cal., by some spiteful person. He roamed over the adjacent roads all night, but fortunately did not injure himself on the barbed wire fences that abound in that locality.

—The Brooklyn Handicap, worth $25,000, was won by Fred Foster's colt Dr. Eton. Byron McClelland's great Bluegrass colt Henry of Navarre was second, while Sir Walter, the Eastern favorite, was third. The start was a miserable one, as Clifford, the Western favorite, on whose chances in the race many thousand dollars had been staked, was almost left at the post, together with Sport, another horse heavily backed to win. Lowminder was left standing still. The race was won in the very fast time of 2:07½.

Live Stock Points.

The finest specimens of the Russian Orloffs that have yet been seen in America are the saddle horses.

"Mutton is what we make it," says a recent writer. Just so.

The character of the meat of growing or fattening animals depends very largely on the kind of food given to them.

Farmers and livestock men must present need to study above all the different foods given to animals, noting the effect of each. The experiment stations are doing this to some extent at present, but not sufficiently.

A knowledge of scientific feeding is what we want.

Clover is the best forage plant for sheep.

Where a farmer cannot have the best blood that is going in all his farm animals, food and care will do much to make up for the want of it.

The cow pea and the common field pea are not the same thing. The cow pea requires a warm climate and will not thrive north of Maryland latitude. The field pea will grow in the northern states and in Canada, but does not do its best north of the corn belt.

When an animal lies down in a pasture field, the grass beneath it becomes tainted with the insensible perspiration and will not be eaten till the odor is washed off by a soaking rain.

Young new grass produces a very watery milk.

There is a shortage of nearly 40 per cent in the lamb crop of 1894.

Do not sell your sheep when everybody else is doing the same. Remember the old rule given by the man who got rich. Sell when everybody else is buying; buy when everybody else is selling.

W. P. WALTON.

Morgan Denmark.

Morgan Denmark is a bay stallion, 15 1/2 hands high. He is splendidly bred as a glance at his pedigree will show. He will make the season of 1894 at my stable on the Danville & Lancaster pike, 1 1/2 miles north of Danville.

At $10 to Insure a Living Colt

Care taken to prevent accidents but not responsible should any occur. Morgan Denmark was foaled in 1885. He is by On Time, son of Stonewall Jackson, 1st dam, Lady Morgan, by Stonewall Jackson, 2nd dam by Virginia, 3rd dam by Matchless, 4th dam by Tranny. Morgan Denmark is one of the best bred saddle stallions in Kentucky. Has good make and tail and good, long, rangy neck. Don't fail to see him.

The Slight Saddle Stallions.

WALLACE DENMARK 55.

LEXEL 262.

The above named stallions will make the season at my farm 3 1/2 miles west of Hustonville, near Carpenter's Station.

Wallace Denmark 55.

Goos all the gates to perfection and without any training faults under 240. Fifteen and three-quarter hands high. By Sumpter Denmark, Jr.; he by Goddard's Denmark, he by Gaines & Cromwell's Denmark, he by the race horse Denmark, he by Imp. Hedgeford. 1st dam, Fannie Wallace, No. 27, by Sir Wallace, he by Toddhunter's Sir Wallace, he by Sir Albert (thoroughbred). 2nd dam, Virginia, dam of Virginia by Tranny, (thoroughbred); he by Nassau's Whip, (thoroughbred). 3rd dam, a Whip Mare.

$15 the Insurance.

Lexel 262.

Sixteen hands high. By Wallace Denmark 55; (see pedigree of Wallace Denmark 55). 1st dam, Miss 27, by Vindex, he by Old Black Hawk. Vindex's 1st dam by Whip, 2nd dam, Galatin, 3rd dam, Old Black Hawk. Vindex's 1st dam by Mambrino Chief; 2nd dam by Old Mambrino, 3rd dam by Cannon's Whip. 4th dam, Julia Wallace, by Sir Wallace, he by Toddhunter's Sir Wallace, he by Sir Albert, (thoroughbred). 5th dam, Virginia, he by Nassau's Whip, (thoroughbred). 6th dam, a Whip Mare.

$10 the Insurance.

Stock committed to my care and breeding will receive my personal attention. Grass furnished at reasonable rates to be paid before removal of stock. No responsibility for accidents or escapes. Parting with stock forfeits insurance.

J. STEELE CARPENTER, Hustonville, Ky.

EAGLE : BIRD.

Winner of the $500 Stake at Lexington.

Winner of Sweepstake Premium at Lexington.

Winner of Age Premium and Sweepstakes at Paris.

Won Second Money in $500 stakes at Versailles.

Won Third Money in $500 Stakes at Nicholasville.

Won Fourth Money in $500 Stake at Stanford.

Won the $500 Consolation Stake at Danville.

Eagle Bird is a beautiful brown with small star, stands over 16 hands high, has flowing mane and heavy tail.

Eagle Bird was sired by the great King Eagle, winner of more than 40 Blue Ties.

First dam by Star Eagle, son of Cabell's Lexington; 2nd dam by Hamlet Denmark, son of Washington Denmark; 3rd dam by Harris' Denmark, son of Miller's Denmark.

Eagle Bird will stand the season of 1894, at my farm two miles west of Stanford, on the Shelby City pike.

At $20 to Insure a Living Colt.

Money or cash note will be required when the fact is ascertained.

Eagle Bird is one of the grandest show horses in Kentucky. Monte Cristo, his uncle, is the only horse shown in the Blue Grass Circuit, that he did not defeat. He could be relied upon to make a gallant show whenever called upon and always finished as game as a race horse, although some of the "knowing ones" pronounced him no good. As a breeder of fine, high styled, good colored colts, he is not surpassed by any horse in Kentucky.

Mares from a distance will be furnished grass after May 1st at $1.50 per month, and must be paid at the removal of mares. Care taken to prevent accidents and escapes, but not responsible should any occur.

Parting with or removal of mares forfeits the insurance.

Will also stand a fine mule Jack at $7 to insure a living colt.

E. P. WOODS, Stanford, Ky.

CLINTON, JR.

This fine young Jack will serve a limited number of mares at Eight Dollars.

Season money due if mare is traded or parted with.

W. S. GARNER, Crab Orchard, Ky.

BRIGNOLA.

Will make the present season of 1894 at the farm the late L. D. Garner, 3 miles from Crab Orchard, 21

$6 to Insure a Colt 4 Months d.

A GENUINE MOTTO.

BROTHER GARDNER OF THE LIME-KILN CLUB RISES TO EXPLAIN.

After Which the Motions for the Year 1894 Are Fully Given—But Brother Gardner Feels Called Upon to Say That They Are of Little Use, After All.

[Copyright, 1894, by Charles B. Lewis.]
"Sense de last meetin'," said Brother Gardner as he arose with a letter in his hand. "I've received de yere epistle from de state department of Alabama axin me if dis Limekiln club has a motto, an it wasn't ober two days ago dat one of our nices' prominent members put de same question. Of course we hev a motto! 'Way back in de lime past, when dis club numbered only seven pious an a dawg, we invented an adopted a motto an he stuck to it ever since. We don't parade it befo' de public on ebery possible occasion, but it hangs up in de library, whar all members kin see it, an I must confess surprise dat an ole member like Sir Isaac Wallace should be in doubt about it. De keeper of de seal will bring in de motto an display it from de platform.'"

Lord Cornwallis Johnson, who holds the office of keeper, retired to the library and presently returned with the motto, on which was emblazoned the motto, as follows:

"Dnr am no doubt some among ye," resumed the president, "who don't exactly understand de motto in dem words, which ar mostly Latin. Ad vicum bonis has four meanin'—one for each season of de year. In de spring it means, 'I want roots an put in some sulphur an make yo' self a tonic.' In de summer it means, 'Down swaller de seeds of a watermelon without chawin'.' In de fall it means, 'What yo' gwine to git yo' meat?' an in de winter it means, 'Nobidy kin be real happy widout chillblains.' Our idea in adoptin dat motto was to git sunthin to kliver de mind ground an be with de money, an up to de present time I hain't heard no fault found wid it. I say take advantage of dis occasion to say dat our mottoes for 1894 an now printed an ready to nail up an will be in place befo' de next meetin'. I will read dem, as follows, an in a loud voice:

"Honesty an de best policy, an dawgs not allowed in de hall 'cept on extra cold nights."

"Truth must prevail, but de liar seems to git along about as well as anybody else."

"In unjon dar an strength, an roasin cheese on de stove an positively forbidden."

"Seek to gain de respect of yo' feller men, but allus charge at least 6 per cent interest when yo' lend money."

"Do not put off till tomorrow what yo' kin do today, an in case of a fire in Paradise hall let de president git out first."

"Respect ole age, an any pussion breakin a pane of glass in any of de windows will be expected to promptly settle for de same widin 30 days."

"Rather than speak evil do not speak at all, an any money found on de floor arter de meetin adjourns should be handed to de treasurer for safe keepin'."

"Kind words ar like dewdrops on de thirsty meadow, but no number of dis club should agree to whitewash a kitchen ceiling fur less dan half a dollar."

"De above mottoes ar all we shall need fur de comin' year," said Brother Gardner as he laid them aside, "an dey won't be put up wid de idea of doin any portekler good. All I shall ask of yo' is to remember de motto of de club. Dar was a time when I believed in mottoes. I believed dat de coozer who hung up in his shop de motto, 'It ar better to be honored dan to be rich,' or ter be patronized above all others. I giv him an order fur two clider bar's, an both looked an he lied about it. I believed dat de shoemaker who put up de motto, 'If I cannot be rich, I'll be honest,' was de man to make me a pair of bates. He made 'em, an I nebbler had a poorer pair. He not only put in de cheapest leather, but he left out half de pegs when pegs war only 5 cents a quart. A good many y'ars ago, when a rag carpet an a set of cane seat chairs war considered good 'nuff fur anybody's parlor, an when sassafras tea an barley coffee could be found on de tables of de rich, mottoes war all right. Dey seemed to make de meat go furder an de apple sage to taste better. But in dis day an age, when eberybody goes around wid a clip on his shoulder an a dollar in his pocket, mottoes don't count. Only yesterday I was in a house wid 'God Bless Our Home' ober one doah, 'Love One Another' ober a second an 'Keep Yo' Heart Pure' ober a third. De husband had run away wid de hired gal, de wife had sot de house afire to git de insurance on de furniture, an de chill'en war pulling hair an torturin de family cat. Some of yo' wondered why I moved last fall. It was becase a family wid a motto moved in next doah. Dey put up de motto of 'Love Thy Neighbor as Thyself,' an it wasn't a week befo' I missed half a cord of wood an fur of my fattest chickens. It was only a question of time, if dey stuck to dat motto, when dey would git de rest of de chickens an clean out my cellar, an so I moved away an got alongside a man who hasn't eben a gospel hymnbook in de house. Let us now ad vicum bonis to our homes."

"Young man," said the superintendent of the express company as he sized up the applicant, "the situation you aspire to fill demands courage, vigilance and heroism."

"Your train may be stopped any night by robbers."

"I am to watch, guard, fight and die."

"Yes, sir."

"Your object, of course, will be to secure the money in the express car. Your object will be to protect it."

"Yes, sir."

established the fact that this town is in for a spring and summer boom. Thirteen new saloons and one restaurant are sure to be erected, and there is a strong probability that parties from Denver will erect a public rink in which dog fights and boxing matches can be pulled off with everybody holding down a reserved seat. No financial panic or public want of confidence can keep this town on her back very long.

Among the society events of last week was the high tea given by Mrs. Colonel Baxter of Colesburg place, followed in the evening by a progressive euchre party. The menu was a mixture of green and black and cost 50 cents per pound. Among the articles of vertu in the drawing room we noticed a bust of Shakespeare, the scalp of an Apache Indian, a chronicle from Chicago and an enckes clock. It is needless to add that the affair as a whole was an unqualified success. Mrs. Baxter had five years' experience behind a soda fountain in Chicago and knows exactly how these recherche affairs should be pulled off.

One of the cowboys from the 2 by 4 ranch was in town yesterday after some soap and casually mentioned the fact that they had just hung another man over there. We made an effort to secure particulars, but none were to be had. They found him driving off stock and him and buried him. He probably had a name, but they are not particular over on the 2 by 4. This makes the seventh or eighth man they have planted in the last 12 months, and in no case have they embarrassed a victim by demanding his name and pedigree. The most that the cowboy could remember was that the man died easy, as if used to being hung.

We were greatly surprised yesterday when informed that our esteemed contemporary was back in his sanctum after an absence of two weeks, during which time he has been a patient sufferer in his own house. One evening a fortnight ago he was informed that THE KICKER proposed to introduce red and lime cardboard signs of "To Rent" in this town, and his jealous spirit at once took fire. He got out his old revolver and picked up our trail and an hour later found us on the street and fired at our back. The bullet struck and shattered the big toe of his own right foot, and for several days the doctor feared lockjaw. We didn't even know that he had fired at us until he told it a week later. We are rejoiced that his life was spared. It doesn't amount to anything. It is true, but he is a living, breathing example of the fact that anything which can walk and talk can grabout a living in this glorious west.

On Thursday night of last week the ever appalling cry of fire suddenly broke in on the deathlike silence brooding over this town, and a moment later the Stygian darkness was rent and shattered by a great column of devouring flame leaping high into the air. We turned out. We were mostly clothed in a trowman's hat and speaking trumpet. In going to the scene of conflagration we knocked down two stray nudes and ran over five or six dogs, but we arrived in good shape and at once took charge of the fire brigade. The victory was ours.

delive flames, had started in the house of Mr. E. J. Halsey, the popular agent of the lung testing and lifting machine seen on our streets every day. In pulling off his boots he knocked over a lamp, and the lurid flames at once seized upon a curtain and began to scorch. The loss is somewhere between $7 and $8, with no insurance. It was a narrow escape for the whole town. Had there been a hurricane blowing and had the flames got an hour's start and the fire engine been frozen up, the next rising sun would have looked down upon a scene of desolation to appall the stoutest heart.

The genial and urbane proprietor of the Eagle hotel yesterday informed us that among the improvements contemplated at his hostelry this spring will be the furnishing of the dining room. He proposes to paint the ceiling sky blue, the walls a vivid red and put in regular chairs with backs to them. The oilcloth covers now used on the tables will be replaced by linen, a napkin placed at every plate, and no knives or forks without handles will be allowed in sight. The entire service of tinware is also to be replaced with crockery, and the waiters will be instructed to take orders after the regular New York style. Whatever is needed to make the Eagle a first class eatery will be carried out without reference to cost, even to painting the bathroom in three colors and adding two more tin basins to the washroom.

A Patient Listener Declines to Accept a Generous Offer.

"Young man," said the superintendent of the express company as he sized up the applicant, "the situation you aspire to fill demands courage, vigilance and heroism."

"Your train may be stopped any night by robbers."

"I am to watch, guard, fight and die."

"Yes, sir."

"Your object, of course, will be to secure the money in the express car. Your object will be to protect it."

"Yes, sir."

"You will be provided with weapons."

"I am to watch, guard, fight and die."

"Yes, sir."

"Your object, of course, will be to secure the money in the express car. Your object will be to protect it."

"You will be provided with weapons."

"I am to watch, guard, fight and die."

"Yes, sir."

"Your object, of course, will be to secure the money in the express car. Your object will be to protect it."

"Yes, sir."

In case of an attack you will be expected to defend the treasure with your life. You must let them blow you up with dynamite sooner than open the doors. If they build a fire under the car, you must roast in the flames. If they cut holes in the car and fire on you, the company will expect you to kill at least three of the robbers before giving up the ghost yourself. Do you comprehend?"

"Yes, sir. I am to watch, guard, fight and die, and as a sort of side issue kill off a few train robbers. What's the salary?"

"Well, say $45 per month to begin on."

"And if I am killed?"

"Then the daily papers will mention your heroism and hope to see it emulated."

"And my widow?"

"Can turn dressmaker, and as the recollect of a hero will be sure to do a big business."

"Thanks. I am the man who sells the corn cure and toothache remedies on the street, and my average income is $30 per week. No shooting, no heroics, no dying. Thank!"

Some Natural Scenery.

We were speeding along past the varied mountain scenery of Kentucky when the man in the seat ahead of me muttered: "By gosh!" and "Gosh all de hooks!" so often that I finally said to him:

"This is pretty fine scenery, isn't it?"

"The gaudy, durnest scenery I ever sot eyes on!" he replied.

"Didn't you ever see any mountains before?"

"Never! Never saw anything higher'n a hill in all my born days! Say, I wouldn't 'n' miss dis 'ere for 20 bushels of oats!"

"Isn't there any natural scenery in the neighborhood where you live?"

"Nuthin to compare with this. Jist look at dat mass of rock over thar! Why, thar's 'nuff of it to build the foundation walls fur 10,000 barns!"

"But there can be natural scenery without mountains," I persisted.

"Oh, of course! Yes, I expect we've got some natural scenery around our town, though I never thought of it before. Yes, I expect we have."

"A winding river fringed with willows, for instance?"

"Noap. Our river don't wind, and she hain't fringed with willows but saw logs. I expect one of our natural sceneries is ole Spurr Johnson, who allus stands at the depot with his hands in his breeches pockets and his jaws a-workin on plug tobacco, and the other is my wife drivin a hog out the front door yard with the brown."

"That may be more of 'em, but I can't remember. Say! Look at dat erick bustin its way right over the mountain, will you! Gosh! all de hooks! but the biggest man in our town wouldn't feed two feet high if he should come down here and view these wonderful works of creation!"

He Had It Too.

A drake and a gander met on a narrow path, and neither would give way.

"See here, now," exclaimed the gander as he pulled out his crop and ruffled his feathers, "but do you know that I am directly descended from the ostrich family?"

"I never heard of it," replied the drake, "but let me give you a pointer. My great-grandfather was an eagle and a high flier."

"Humph! My great-grandfather could have eaten him at one mouthful! It is a great piece of presumption on your part to block the road!"

"What is an ostrich but a great, overgrown rooster on stilts?"

"And what is an eagle but an old hen too lazy to supply the market with eggs?"

They were having it hot and heavy when the farmer came along and stopped to inquire the cause of the row. When he had heard the particulars, he replied:

"It may all be true about yo' ancestors, but judgin' yo' as a drake and a gander I find yo' of so little benefit that I shall eat yo' both to commemorate the discovery that I am descended from a king!"

M. QUAD.

He Difficultly With the Waiter.

The man with the hare lip was hungry. He went into a State street restaurant and at once got into trouble with the waiter because of his inability to pronounce the letter "p." He studied the coffee stained bill of fare and then said:

"I want four foached aligs."

When the waiter returned, he deposited before the guest four slices of pork. The hare lip man looked at the meat, then at the waiter.

"I didn't order dat," he said.

"Dat's what yo' oldahed, sah," replied the dorky. "Yo' sayd yo' wanted fo' po'k steaks."

"No, I didn't order four fork steaks. I ordered four foached aligs."

"Well, what yo' klickin about? Dere's yo' po'k steaks."

The hungry man first made sure that the renegade waiter was not gaging him and then said:

"See here, my friend, I don't suppose you ever lived on a farm?"

The waiter said he hadn't, and the colloquy proceeded by the following circuitous route in order to avoid the lingual rock on which the hungry man's gastronomic hopes had been wrecked at the outset.

"Well, you know what a rooster is?"

"Yes, sah. Saw one on Souf Watah street once."

"You know what a rooster's wife is?"

"Dey youser call 'em hens."

"You know what a rooster's wife's children are?"

"Chickums."

"You know what a rooster's wife's children are dey're hatched ar?"

"Algs."

"Well, I want—four—rooster's—wife's—children—afore—they—are—hatched—foached"—Chicago Post.

Wolcott's Story.

Senator Wolcott of Colorado tells a story of a man who while traveling in a parlor car between Omaha and Denver fell asleep and snored so loudly that every one in the coach was seriously annoyed.

Presently an old gentleman approached the sleeper, shook him and brought him out of his slumber with a start.

"What's the matter?" he exclaimed.

"Why, your snoring is annoying every one in the car," said the old gentleman kindly.

"How do you know I am snoring?" queried the source of the nuisance.

"Why, we can't help but hear it."

"Well, don't believe all you hear," replied the stranger and went to sleep again.

LIVE STOCK

SUFFOLK SHEEP.

His Good Points Set Forth by an Ardent Admirer of the Breed.

Mr. George W. Franklin writes thus in The American Agriculturist concerning the Suffolk sheep:

From the year 1800 to 1850 the interbreeding of the Southdown and the Norfolk was quite general. In 1850 these Southdown-Norfolk were first called Suffolks, classes being given to them by the Suffolk Agricultural association. The Suffolk sheep, as they now exist, may be briefly described as black faced, hornless, with clean, black legs, about 30 per cent larger than the Southdowns, which they resemble in character of wool. Among the excellent points of this breed are:

Fecondity—Thirty lambs to 20 ewes are a very frequent occurrence in large flocks. In the flock of the writer, this spring, are 160 per cent of live lambs to the number of dams.

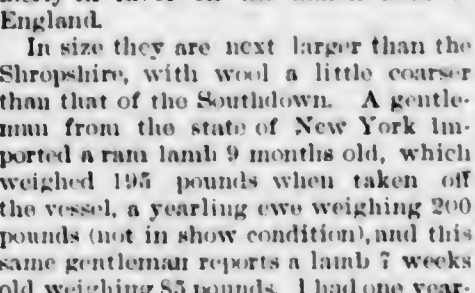

Early Maturity—They are noted for this even to as great extent as the famed Hampshire. One pair of lambs dropped this spring weigh an aggregate of 182 pounds. Another lamb, now 2 months old, weighs 84 pounds; the youngest lamb, now 35 days old, weighs 48 pounds. In England 19 out of 20 breeders prefer a top lamb as a breeder to an older sheep.

Hardiness—They will get a living where other sheep will fail to thrive. I have noticed them staying in the pasture during storms which drove other breeds kept on the same farm to shelter.

Mutton—The quality is of the finest, with an exceptionally large proportion of lean meat, and commands ready sale at top prices.

Constitution—Their robust, hardy character, power of endurance and comparative freedom from rot during the past 15 years caused them to displace to a great extent the half bred sheep formerly in favor on the marsh land of England.

In size they are next larger than the Shropshire, with wool a little coarser than that of the Southdown. A gentleman from the state of New York imported a ram lamb 9 months old, which weighed 195 pounds when taken off the vessel, a yearling ewe weighing 200 pounds (not in show condition), and this same gentleman reports a lamb 7 weeks old weighing 55 pounds. I had one yearling ewe in stock condition at the annual state shearing in Iowa which weighed after being shorn 185 pounds. The same sheep in the scoring contest took the first premium on a score of 96½ points. She measured 47½ inches around the heart girth and was 35 inches from withers to root of tail. In this breed will always be noticed the same color of the face and legs—that of ink blackness. Never will a gray, a brown or a speckled face be seen.

So far as known, the first importation of this breed was made in 1858. Other importations have followed, and the importers of them have not been disappointed in what they first saw in this breed for America. The one thing that seems strange is that it did not find its way to this country sooner. They are quite plentiful in the eastern part of England and are beautiful animals, with large, rangy bodies, and very quick to mature.

One of the distinguishing features of the Suffolk sheep is the head, upon which there is rarely any wool. Long, graceful, clean and coal black, with long, black ears, it imparts a strong individuality to the sheep. I have Suffolk and Cotswold sheep on the same farm, and visitors admire the Suffolks most. They are great milkers and very hardy. The venisonlike flavor of the mutton recommends it to connoisseurs, and the absence of excessive fat insures a growing preference on the part of consumers.

Selling Live Stock.

If there are a few poor specimens in a flock, sell them quickly at whatever price can be got. To try to put them among a lot of good, well fattened animals will depreciate the whole more than the others will bring. If there can be two classes made in selling, be sure to make them and dispose always of the poorest first. The same causes which made the best animals gain their superiority are likely to continue in operation as long as they live. Yet it is quite common among a certain class of poor farmers to let the butcher take his pick of their sheep, hogs or cattle, thinking that with the reduction in number extra feeding will make the remainder as good as the first. It very rarely results thus. It is usually not lack of feed, but lack of digestive power, that makes the poorer animals in a flock out of condition.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

"Here's your Lexington Leader, all about the tragedy at Nicholasville" sung out the newshoys as a C. S. train passed the capital of the blue-grass Wednesday night. Investigation showed that the headline was "Strategy" and that it referred to the arrest of Charles Taylor, another of the supposed express robbers, at Nicholasville.

THIRTEEN sacks of the Reports of the Commissioner of Agriculture, sent by Gov. McCleary to his Lincoln county constituents, were received and distributed to the various post offices yesterday by Postmaster Runt. The poor little deputy looked like she had been through a gin mill, after helping him through with the heavy job.

WE wish the proper authority would order the town clock hands to be made to read alike. Until it strikes you can't always sometimes tell what time it is. For instance when it is 1 o'clock, one hand may point to that figure, another will show 12:55, a third 45 to 2 and the fourth to 1:03, or something like that. It is much better to have it right, besides the people pay for it.

COMPROMISED.—Mr. Isaac Hamilton has compromised with his wife, who was Mrs. Harris, and who sued him for divorce and alimony, by paying her $2,000 and her lawyer's fee. It will be remembered that they were married rather suddenly and that they parted almost as suddenly, she claiming that in a short time his manner was such as to show a settled aversion to her. It did not, as her petition avers, take the unmanly course which resorts to blows, but the more refined method of acting in a complete and utter indifference to her, maintaining a silence that was worse than cruel words. Since the suit was brought Mr. Hamilton has made several efforts to settle the matter with money and finally succeeded. He preferred to have the thing off his mind and pay the amount and have done with it, instead of the monthly payments that the court might order. Mr. Hamilton is quite well off and won't miss the amount much. It is understood that a decree of divorce will be asked for at the approaching court.

Denise, a thunder storm Tuesday morning a tree close to W. H. Traylor's distillery was struck by lightning tearing it to pieces. A ball of fire left the tree and entered the distillery setting fire to a small amount of whisky which was in one of the tanks and which after hard work was extinguished before much damage was done. Had the tank been full, which is frequently the case, the distillery would more than likely have been destroyed. Messrs. R. B. Gentry, J. M. Carter and the proprietor were all slightly stunned.

MATRIMONIAL MATTERS.

—W. C. McKinney and Miss Lillie Taylor will be married at the McKinney Baptist church, on the 23d.

—James Bunch, a widower and only 21 years of age, was married Tuesday to Miss Sarah Carrier, just a week 16.

—Reuben Jenny, of Memphis, Ind., a five times widower, married Mrs. Mosier, a four times widow, Monday. He is 76, she 60.

—Lillian Russell, the pretty actress who married Sig. Porngini, less than four months ago has left him for good and all, she says.

—An Ohio man got a divorce because his wife pulled him out of bed by the whiskers and a Massachusetts man because his spouse kept him awake by quarrelling all night.

—Rev. Kildenour, pastor of the Christian church of Ironton, O., eloped with Mrs. Truby, the organist of the same church and would have married had not detectives interfered. Both are married.

—Invitations have been issued by Mr. and Mrs. Jas. A. Slaughter to the marriage of their daughter, Miss Lula Deeman Slaughter, to Mr. Daugherty White Mahan, on Tuesday evening, May 29th, at the Broadway Baptist church.—Advocate.

—W. R. Bies, of Garrard, familiarly known as "Dolph," and Miss Myra, the beautiful daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Owsley were to drive to Danville yesterday evening and marry. The Interior Journal extends its heartiest congratulations.

—Miss Julia Morris at New York and F. E. Gearty, at El Paso, Texas, were married by telegraph the other day. The groom was on his dying bed and Miss Morris wished to bear the name of her betrothed even though she could do so only as a widow.

DEATH'S DOINGS.

—Mrs. D. W. Newland died Wednesday night at her home on Cedar Creek after a protracted illness. She was 27 years old and had been a devout member of the Christian church since her early childhood. Besides her husband she leaves two little children who will keenly feel a mother's loss. Elder J. G. Livingston preached the funeral at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, after which the remains were interred in the family burying ground.

—GORE HOME.—Ere the dawning of another day the immortal soul of Mrs. Mary Stone had winged its flight into the bright beyond to the God who gave. Mrs. Stone was born March 12, 1840, died May 11, 1894, and was 53 years, two months and two days old. She was the daughter of Cornelius and Polly Traylor, wife of Wm. Thomas Stone. Has four children, John W., William, Harvey and Cornelius. Was a member of Rush Branch Christian church for 34 years. Mrs. Stone was a loving and obedient daughter, devoted sister, a true, faithful wife, a helpmeet indeed; a fond, untiring and loving mother; a Scriptural neighbor; a friend to all humanity. She tried to have the humility of the Savior; poor in spirit, pure in heart, an exemplary woman in all the successes and trials of life. Her name no doubt is written in the "Lamb's Book of Life," and in the Great Day it will be said then, as now, "Well done, thou good and faithful servant, enter ye into the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world." Mrs. Stone lived every day as she died—ready and ripe for the judgment, and is now asleep in Jesus, having entered into the rest that remains for the people of God.

CHURCH AFFAIRS.

—The General Assembly of the Southern Presbyterian church convened at Nashville yesterday.

—The General Assembly of the Presbyterian church, North, is in session at Saratoga. The convention is anti-Briggs, four to one.

—Rev. C. E. Powell, the able young pastor of the Columbia Avenue Christian church, is at home after several weeks absence in Russellville and other places.—Hinsgow Times.

—When Talmage saw his fine new tabernacle in flames, he said: "It is the Lord." The clerical gymnast was evidently mistaken. It was the devil. He is the individual who deals in fire.

—The Methodist General Conference adopted resolutions providing that preachers and members shall abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors, from renting property to saloon keepers or from signing petitions for license, either act to be regarded as immoral.

—Mr. Yonan, a young Persian who has been converted to the Christian religion and desires to educate himself for the ministry among his people, will preach at the Presbyterian church at 11, A. M. Sunday, on missions and at night will lecture on Persian Religions.

—The Southern Baptist Convention recommends that an effort be made to reach every member of the church and induce them to give something for foreign missions. The body adjourned Tuesday and will likely accept an invitation to meet at Augusta, Ga., next year.

—The Indiana soldier, who stole Stonewall Jackson's Bible when his residence was burned, has just done the proper thing by returning it to the widow of the great general, who lives at Charlotte, N. C. On the fly leaf are the words: "Presented by your affectionate sister, Julia."

—Rev. Cranil, of Texas, said in the Southern Baptist convention that he would not vote for a Catholic for any office under any consideration, and that he had no respect or confidence in a man who would vote for or aid one to office. This was a ding at Gov. Northern, vice-president of the convention, who recently appointed Pat Walsh, a Catholic, to be U. S. Senator.

—During Christmas the ladies of the Methodist church asked Mrs. J. H. Tucker for a donation to go toward liquidating the debt of the Methodist church caused by building the parsonage. She agreed to help them and immediately went to work on a quilt. When it was completed she got a sufficient number of her friends to write their names in the little squares, at 10 cents a piece, to make the sum of $10. Yesterday she brought in the amount and surprised the sisters. She also pleasantly surprised the pastor, Rev. W. E. Arnold by giving him the quilt. A very present help in time of trouble is Mrs. Tucker.

LINCOLN CIRCUIT COURT.
Farmers Bank and Trust Company of Stanford, Ky., Plaintiff against W. M. Duddler, James A. Duddler and Ann Duddler, Debtors.
Notice of Sale.

By virtue of a judgment and order of sale herein at the October term, 1893, of this court, the undersigned Commissioner will sell the court-house door in the town of Stanford, on Monday, June 11th, 1894.

County court day for Lincoln county, sell at public outcry to the highest and best bidder, the following described property, to-wit: A tract of land in Lincoln county, on the waters of Dix River, containing 73 Acres and bounded as follows: South by the lands of John Taylor, South and East by the lands of Henry Traylor and West by the lands of C. M. Spoonamore, but for a more particular description of the lands by metes and bounds, the judgment of sale herein is referred to. The tract of land includes the valuable MILL Property known as Duddler's Mill, the dwelling house and other improvements. The other three tracts mentioned in the judgment and directed to be sold will not be sold, for the reason that they have heretofore been disposed of and plaintiff has received the benefit thereof.

The whole, or so much as will be necessary, of the 73-Acre Tract will be sold as well satisfy the debt of plaintiff for $5,000.00, with 6 per cent. interest from July 1, 1892, until paid, and the further sum of $1,074.74, with 6 per cent. interest from July 3, 1893, until paid, and its costs herein expended, subject to a credit of $2,000.00, paid January 1, 1894, proceeds of plaintiff's notes. The sum to be raised to cover plaintiff's debt and all costs to day of sale, $5,000.00.

Terms of Sale.—A credit of six months. Bond with approved personal security with six per cent. interest from day of sale, having the force and effect of a judgment and payable to the Com'r. Lien retained.

INEBRIETY INHERITED.

The Appetite for Alcohol Born in the Blood.

Recently some very extraordinary statements have been going the rounds of the press concerning the hereditary of inebriety. As a rule mere assertions and denials of facts are unworthy of notice, unless supported by some evidence that has at least the appearance of truth. Anyone can criticize and deny the facts which have been acknowledged as true, not because they were asserted by any one man, but as the conclusion of a large number of competent observers.

The boldness and presumption of anyone who asserts that inebriety is not inherited, sounds like the shouts of a belated traveler who has lost his way and is bewildered and confused, or one who declares there is no light in the world because he can not see.

To say there is no evidence that inebriety is inherited, and there is no such thing as hereditary appetite for liquor, is to repeat Rev. Mr. Jasper's conclusions: "The sun he do move, the earth he do stand still." Fortunately we live in an age when statements of this kind are judged, not by the author, but on the evidence which is put forward to sustain them.

The heredity of inebriety was observed by Greek philosophers and physicians, and commented on in many works of medicine and philosophy. Roman laws and civilization embodied this fact in the statutes of the time, and from this period down, in almost every age and country, the heredity of drunkenness was mentioned. The medical testimony on this point, and the laws and edicts concerning it, would fill a volume.

In more recent times this fact has been studied from a statistical point, and every observer, including hundreds of physicians of hospitals, asylums, and institutions for the insane and inebriates, have all, with one consent, recognized the heredity of drunkenness. The evidence of this can be found in reports of asylums, volumes on insanity, inebriety, and brochures on heredity.

While there are wide differences of opinion as to the extent and nature of heredity, the fact itself is not doubted by any who have given the subject careful attention. It is not possible to understand how the degenerations and defects of one person are transmitted to the descendants, simply because the problem is so vast, and involves a knowledge of biology that is not yet attained. No one can say when and how the disease of inebriety and the drink craving is carried on to the next generation; or when it will appear, or how it may slumber along for one or two generations, then break out from the slightest exciting causes. But the facts of such cases are within the observation of everyone.

Take the common, everyday statistics of the percentage of inebriates, and the fact appears that from thirty to eighty in every one hundred cases have inebriate parents or grandparents. These figures are the highest and lowest of different observers in this country and Europe. There is no fact in drunkenness upon which there is such a universal agreement. Many persons have divergent theories and methods of explanation. Some persons think it a very large factor in the causation, and others doubt this. Much in the same way many persons believe that alcohol is the sole and only cause of drunkenness, while in reality the use of alcohol is, in many cases, only a symptom, and the "signal flag of distress" pointing to a condition of degeneration going on in the brain centers.

The great difficulty in want of agreement is that the subject is far beyond any individual theory of its nature and causes. The dogmatism which asserts "that prohibition increases drunkenness, and that spirits and drugs given to children, as medicines or otherwise, cause more inebriety than the saloons," and that some more empirical remedy "is more effective in the eradication of the drink habit than a world of prohibitory effort," requires no answer. It describes the author and his knowledge of inebriety more clearly than can be done otherwise.

The question of heredity is open to every reader of this paper, and can be decided from facts within the observation of almost everyone. Like every other fact in science it is open to correction and change. If anyone has evidence that shows that there is "no such thing as a hereditary appetite for liquor," it will be welcomed and examined by an ever-increasing army of students of this subject. Its acceptance or rejection will be decided above the levels of theory and personal opinions.

It is a fact seen in all departments of scientific and sociological studies, that those who are most learned are the least dogmatic and assertive. Such persons state all conclusions with reserve, and as the best knowledge of the present time. This is an unmistakable sign of probable correctness. While emphatic, authoritative statements, particularly on matters where exhaustive and exact studies are essential to even master the first principles of the subject, are open to grave suspicion of error and deception.

In the meantime our readers need not be disturbed with any extreme articles going through the press on heredity or any other allied topics. The real facts will be determined and stated in a different way by very different men. Fact, that will not appeal to faith alone, but have some evidence sustained by our common experience and observation.—Union Signal.

LIFE IS SHORTENED.

The Life Effects of Drink Shown by Insurance Reports.

We find in an English newspaper a discussion of the report of the "United Kingdom Temperance and General Provident Institution," a life insurance company. The figures given cover twenty-seven years of the existence of that organization, and they demonstrate most forcibly the advantage that persons who abstain totally from intoxicants have over moderate drinkers in increased length of life. The company was founded on a co-operative basis in 1840, to give total abstainers the benefits of life insurance. In 1847 non-abstainers were admitted, but kept in a separate section. The two sections, the "Temperance," and the "General," are independent of each other, each appropriating its own profits.

At the date of the last report there were 15,000 members in the temperance section, and 14,000 in the general section. The number of expected deaths in the temperance section during 1892, based on the usual life insurance figures, were 327, with policies aggregating $23,848. The actual number of deaths, however, was only 240, the policies aggregating $31,484.

In the general section, which includes moderate drinkers, the number of deaths to be expected, according to the tables, was 387, for $23,240, while the actual number of deaths was 422, with claims of $184,246.

The comparison shows that there were 37 deaths fewer in the temperance section than were anticipated, while in the general section there were 35 more than were expected. The mortality in the first was only 73 per cent. of the number of deaths due according to the tables, while in the second the mortality of 103 per cent. The following table gives the results for 27 years.

Temperance Section, General Section		Expected Actual		Expected Actual
	claims.	claims.	claims.	claims.	claims.
1870.....	510	411	1,000	074
1875.....	723	511	1,266	1,300
1880.....	603	461	1,266	1,480
1885.....	1,172	833	1,250	1,250
1890.....	1,172	1,010	1,846	1,760
1892.....	048	480	773	847
	5,501	3,900	8,090	7,881

The number of deaths in the temperance section in these 27 years is thus seen to be 1,691 fewer than the "expectations of deaths" by the actuarial tables, which all life insurance companies use, while in the general section they were but 169 fewer. Out of the total number of expected deaths only 70.9 per cent. died in the temperance section and 97.9 in the general section. That is the temperance section has the advantage by 27 per cent.

It is gratifying to know that these figures do not stand alone. Their substantial correctness is verified by the experience of American life insurance companies. The Etna Life, of Hartford, long ago refused to insure the lives of persons who habitually use intoxicants, and considers beer-drinkers quite as undesirable risks as those who use distilled spirits; and the same thing is true of many of the other leading companies of both the United States and Great Britain.

These are facts which can not be too strongly impressed upon the minds of the rising generation. Once let it be fully recognized that indulgence in liquors, even in moderation, tends to shorten life, and every sensible man will shun intoxicants as he shuns any other poison. A mere legal enactment will not make men non-drinkers; but when they are convinced that drinking means slow suicide, with the possible loss of health, wealth, good name, friends and all else that makes existence dear, that makes life worth living, and certainly every man who is worthy to live will abstain entirely from every form of stimulation. The more men who can be convinced of these evils the stronger will be the effort to abolish the traffic, shut up the saloons and pulverize the rum power.—Toledo Blade.

TEMPERANCE TIDINGS.

HAVE you ever noticed how long it takes a moderate drinker to find out that he has any bad habits?

The city of New York last year paid four million dollars for schools. Its "drink bill," by which we infer is meant the amount paid by its citizens for intoxicating liquors, was fifteen times as large, or sixty million dollars. One dollar was expended to cultivate the higher qualities of men; fifteen were spent to debilitate and destroy them, and develop the lower and baser qualities.

Twenty million dollars was spent in strong drink in Australia last year, giving employment to less than ten thousand men all the year round in actual production. And that vast sum of money been spent in other trades it would have employed twenty-five thousand men at three pounds per week for five years and twenty weeks; so, completely solving the problem of the unemployed.

The horrors and degradation produced by the drink traffic are not to be measured by any ordinary calculation of its first cost, nor are its depredations to be judged only by its effects on the business interests of the community. Its awful results are more injurious as a narcotic on the moral sensibilities of the people; and when conscience is blunted, the anchor of our civilization is gone.—W. Jennings Demorest.

The board of managers of the children's home of Montclair, N. J., recently instructed their secretary to return a check for twenty-two dollars, one-half the receipts of a saloon in that place on New Year's day, donated to the home by the saloon proprietor. It was voted as the sense of the board that "the association could not accord that recognition to the business of saloon keeping which the acceptance of a part of a day's receipts would imply."

A Chicago paper states that 2,655 English sparrows were killed by seventy-two bounty hunters in a certain town, the largest number captured by any one person, being one hundred and sixty-two. These were taken by a little girl, the hapless innocents having made themselves drunk by feeding on refuse from the brewery of the child's father. Think of the curse on the land when God's creatures can not feed with safety! No wonder is it that Godly men and women await with patient eagerness the day when "Jerusalem shall be safely inhabited," "and there shall be no more curse."

Dr. S. F. Scott, of Illus Ridge, Harrison county, Mo., says: "For whooping cough, Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is excellent." By using it freely the disease is deprived of all dangerous consequences. There is no danger in giving the Remedy to babies, as it contains nothing injurious, and so can be relied on for sale by Dr. S. G. Hockett, Druggist, Stanford.

Persons who sympathize with the afflicted with rheumatism, Dr. Carr of 123 Harrison street, Kansas City, Mo., is an old sufferer from lumbago, Rheumatism, but has not been troubled in this climate. Last winter he went up into Wisconsin and in consequence has had another attack. "It came upon me again very acute and severe," he said. "My joints swelled and became inflamed, sore to touch and almost to look at. I put the utmost request of my neighbor, Dr. Carr, to send me a bottle of Carr's Rheumatism Remedy. I used it and in a few days the swelling and pain, and to my great surprise it all left. I have used three or four bottles and believe it to be the finest thing for rheumatism, pain and swellings extant." For sale by Dr. S. G. Hockett, Druggist, Stanford.

A Household Treasure.

D. W. Fuller, of Canabogue, N. Y., says that he always keeps Dr. King's New Discovery in the house and his family would not be without it. He procured it. Dr. A. Hickman Druggist, Catskill, N. Y., says that Dr. King's New Discovery is an undoubted the best Cough Remedy; that he has used it in his family for eight years, and it has never failed to do all that is claimed for it. Why not try a remedy so long tried and tested. Trial bottle free at A. R. Penny's Drug Store. Regular size 50c and $1.00.

Specimen Cases.

S. H. Clifford, New Cassel, Wis., was troubled with Neuralgia and Rheumatism, his stomach was disordered, his liver was affected to an alarming degree, appetite fell away and he was severely reduced in flesh and strength. Three bottles of Electric Bitters cured him.

Dr. H. H. Herring, Illinois, running store on his leg of eight years' standing. Used three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes of Buckner's Arnica Salve, and he is sound and well. John S. Baker, Calawaha, O., had large liver sores on his leg, doctors said he was incurable. One bottle of Electric Bitters and one box Buckner's Arnica Salve cured him entirely. Sold by A. R. Penny, drug store.

Also a track of knob land of 10 acres, well timbered, on Littleham pike near Cox's Gap, sold private.

All sums under $10 cash. All over due Jan. 1, 1893, with interest from day of sale and secured by personal security.
